

Training Cord USB Y

Improve your agents' professional qualifications with Axtel Training Cord USB Y by connecting two Quick Disconnect (QD) headsets to one computer using USB port to conduct effective training.

Key features:

- USB Training cord with option of muting 2 microphones separately
- Volume adjustment
- Marked QD for supervisor
- Optimized for S4B
- DSP

Description:

This cord is optimized for Skype for Business and has been equipped with a functional pilot that gives you the option to mute each microphone separately, so that each participant can join or leave the conversation at any given time or simply listen to it imperceptibly. Volume controls on the pilot allow quick and easy volume adjustment without having to navigate through the computer settings, which can be particularly burdensome during a training session when only one person has access to the PC.

The supervisor's headset's QD ending is marked distinctly to ensure full clarity and ease of use. The Digital Signal Processing Technology eliminates echo in the speakers to ensure high quality of sound over a softphone. Backed by a two year standard warranty.
